VOL. IX. ATLANTA, GA. TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 13, 1877 NO. 237

REORGANIZING SOUTHERN STATE GOVERNMENTS.

Newspaper correspondents who are supposed to be tolerably familiar with the plans and purposes of the new administration, say that Hayes proposes to move steadily and slowly, and to take no step from which he can possibly be compelled to recede. He intends, it is averred, to withdraw the federal troops from Louisiana and South Carolina, and to leave the settlement of the status of these states, a settlement that can only be brought about by the seating of the new senators. He will not, it is stated, take any action whatever except to issue orders for the withdrawal of troops, and this he will do on the assurances of Governor Hampton and Governor Nicholls that they will be able to preserve the peace in their respective states.

This is the true policy. The plan adopted by the partisan ignoramus who has just vacated the chair of the federal executive to "recognize" any usurping government in the southern states merely out of sympathy for the carpet-element is unparalleled and utterly odious. The pretence that the recognition of the president of the United States is sufficent to give validity to a government wholly corrupt and fraudulent is inconsistent with every principle that gives vitality and force to the organic law of the republic. It is true that under the administration of General Grant this recognition was frequently accorded and as frequently submitted to by the people of the south, but this submission was simply the result of a desire upon the part of citizens to avoid any collision with the federal forces in order that no pretext might be given for further outrages upon the autonomy of the states. It is not recognition on the part of President Hayes that the people of Louisiana and South Carolina are so anxious to obtain. By no means. They merely desire to be left free in the exercise of the rights that are so freely accorded to the citizens of the northern states—the rights of self-government. They desire to be left to themselves, so far as the federal government is concerned—free to choose their own rulers and undisturbed in the support of those whom they have chosen. They are more than prepared to guarantee that there will be no serious breacher of the peace; they are more than ready to give assurances that the law will be respected and maintained. Are they asking too much when they ask to be left alone? Let justice answer.

CORRESPONDENTS say that the president contemplates no changes in the personnel of the minor offices of the government, except where such changes would insure increased efficiency in the performance of public business. There will be some changes, probably numerous changes, in the foreign missions, and a few in the consular service. In the department of justice, the United States marshals in the south will be most effectually overhauled. This will form part of the execution of the president's southern policy. The interior department, which, from the time of its organization, has been a wide field of corruption, will also receive a thorough investigation, with a view to remedying the evils. This applies particularly to the Indian bureau. Secretary Schurz will here have broad field in which to give practical evidence of his efforts in the direction of reform. It is a large field, and it is within his power to make for himself a lasting reputation.

COL. H. C. CORBIN is to be the Babcock of the White House for the next four years. He is said to have a record, but no one seems to know what it is. The employment of a military secretary is outside of the law, but as the ultras have declared war it is thought that the presence of a fragment of the army might have a restraining effect.

THE Augusta Constitutionalist says that Hayes's first appointee, William Stone as district attorney, of South Carolina, is only less obnoxious to the people of that state than Chamberlain, Bowen, Corbin and Patterson. The Constitutionalist thinks such a policy of conciliation is of the kind called "fishey."

ONE of the most promising signs that the administration of Hayes will be honest and conservative is the fact that he failed to occupy a pew that had been reserved for him under the pulpit of that odious old slang-whanger Parson Newman. Hayes will do well to avoid Newman and his reserved pews.

CUBA will have a better chance in Washington now, because it is more than probable that Evarts has no son-in-law who will get to be a feed attorney in the interest of Spain. Don Hamilton Fish, from all we can understand, did have such a son-in-law.

IT is thought that old Simon Cameron has resigned the Pennsylvania senatorship in favor of his son Don. This will give the old man more time to pursue his amours with the treasury girls.

GOVERNOR HAMPTON has requested the commander-in-chief of the army of the United States to have the federal troops withdrawn from South Carolina.

FRED. SEWARD becomes first assistant secretary of state, in place of a party named Cadwallader.

PACKARD'S FATE.

Among the interesting outgoings from Washington embodied in our telegrams is one to the effect that the new president does not propose to allow himself to be embarrassed by the idea that he must do no act that would appear to injuriously affect the validity of his title to the office. This has direct reference to his southern policy and must be particularly interesting at this juncture to Packard and his friends. It means—if it means anything—that under whatever combination of circumstances his own election may be connected with that of Packard and his crew, he will be true to the impulses that led him to foreshadow a policy for the south, based on justice and equity. We can promise Mr. Hayes this much: that while the mere fact of his treating the southern states with that consideration to which they believe themselves entitled will not "divide" the south as to its utter and deep hatred of each and every principle of the radical party, yet it will go far, very far toward disarming opposition to his administration.

CHANDLER took pains to explain his policy to Schurz, and Schurz had the patience to listen.

KEY didn't take the iron-clad oath.

THE PEOPLE AND POLITICIANS.

—Attorney General Ely appeared yesterday in the Jones case.

—Governor Colquitt returned yesterday from his trip to middle Georgia. He had a royal reception wherever he went and looks recuperated.

—A movement is on foot to have District Attorney Farrow ousted for a more acceptable man.

—Ben Hill is to write an article for the Philadelphia weekly Times entitled "The Supercedure of Johnston by Hood," while "The Atlanta Campaign" will be written up by Gen Joe Johnston.

—Gen. Ruger is seldom seen upon our streets now. He seems to have dropped out of current history.

—Postmaster Conley calmly gazes on the portraits of Hayes and Wheeler that ornament his office and is not afraid.

—The Germans in our city are much elated over Carl Schurz's elevation to the cabinet.

—"Buell," the reliable Washington correspondent of the New Orleans Democrat says: "In the matter of federal appointments but few changes will be made north of Mason and Dixon's line, but in the southern states there will be an almost clean sweep within the next ninety days."

—An Atlanta capitalist is so confident of Hampton's tenure as governor that he has invested in South Carolina bonds.

—The United States marshalship is said to rest between Smyth, Foster Blodgett and Bob Alston.

—If any one thinks there are no democrats in Atlanta ready to take office under Hayes that person landers enterprise.

—Ex-Attorney General Hammond by general consent almost will be sent to a seat in the constitutional convention.

A SUBMARINE VOLCANO.

It Frightens the Natives of the South Seas With an Extraordinary Eruption.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—The Honolulu Gazette of the 28th contains an account of a submarine volcano outbreak in Kealakeakana bay, near the entrance to the harbor. The natives report that the eruption occurred at three o'clock on the morning of the 24th ult., appearing like innumerable red, blue and green lights. In the afternoon several boats visited the eruption, cruising over the most active part where the water was in a state of peculiar activity, boiling and appearing as if passing over rapids, or very much like water at Hell Gate at New York. Blocks of lava two feet square came up from below, frequently striking and jarring boats. As the lava was quite soft no harm was done. Nearly all the pieces on reaching the surface ware red-hot, emitting steam and gas strongly sulphurous.

A rumbling noise was heard, like that of rocks in a freshet, caused no doubt by the eruption of lava from the submarine crater, which is supposed to be the crack or line of rupture, extending at least a mile from the shore. Another rupture, doubtless the continuation of the submarine fissure, was traced inland from the shore nearly three miles, varying in width from a few inches to three feet, and in some places the water was seen pouring down into the abyss below.

A severe shock of an earthquake was felt by those living at Kaowaloa and Kell during the night of the eruption, which must have preceded the earthquake. It was quite severe, but no damage is reported.

—Thousands of women bless the day on which Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was first made known to them. In all those derangements causing back ache, dragging down sensations, nervous and general debility, it is a sovereign remedy. Its soothing and healing properties render it of the utmost value to ladies suffering from internal fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration. It is sold by all druggists. d&w

Kellogg to Knock at the Outside Door of the Senate again To-day.

KIBY KELLOGG.

TO BE CONSIDERED IN THE SENATE TO-DAY.

Probability of the Case Going over Until the Winter Session—Several Absentees on the Wrong Side for Kellogg's Interests—Etc

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senator Morton will make an effort to have the case of Kellogg, claiming a seat as senator from Louisiana, acted upon at this session of the senate, and the impression prevails that a favorable report in his case will be made by a majority of the committee on privileges and elections on Tuesday next. It is not certain, however, that the senate will agree to act upon the case now, as a number of republican senators prefer to let the matter rest for the present rather than take any action upon the vexed Louisiana question, which might be embarrassing to the administration, when, on permitting the Kellogg case to go over until next session, it can be determined with much less discussion than if an attempt were made to do so now; and besides, the matter may be virtually settled by the executive department of the government before that time.

There are now seventy-two members of the senate and four vacancies to be filled—two from Louisiana, one from Ohio and one from South Carolina. The Louisiana case is the first in order, and it is said that the democrats will vote in favor of postponing the case of Kellogg until the next session. The senate is now composed of 38 republicans, 33 democrats, and one independent republican, Judge Davis.

The democrats have all their senators present, but on the republican side Messrs. Edmunds and Cameron are confined to their rooms by sickness, and Mr. Ferry has been called home to Michigan by the serious illness of his brother. Consequently, if but two republicans vote with the democrats in favor of postponing the case, that motion will prevail.

In the Pinchback case Messrs. Christiancy, Edmunds, Morrill, of Vermont, and Paddock, who are now members of the senate, voted with the democrats. Messrs. Booth and Dawes, who would also have voted against his admission, were paired with Messrs. Oglesby and Wright. In the vote of Wednesday last, on the motion to refer the credentials of Mr. Kellogg to the committee on privileges and elections, Messrs. Booth, Burnside, Christiancy, Conkling, Davis, of Illinois, Jones, of Nevada, and Morrill, of Vermont, voted with the democrats in favor of the motion.

In view of all the circumstances, it is believed that the Kellogg case will not be disposed of before next winter; the same may be said of the South Carolina case. Should the cases go over, the special session of the senate will probably close before the end of the present week, as the executive business can be disposed of in a few days.

A close poll of the senate shows that Kellogg, should a vote be forced, would be defeated, and the democrats seem to have consented to let the question go over to the next session.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The committee on privileges and elections to-day, by a strict party vote, authorized their chairman to report to the senate to-morrow that Kellogg has a prima facie right to admission as senator from Louisiana, and should be immediately sworn in. The democratic members will present a dissenting report.

The Republican closes an elaborate article on Louisiana and South Carolina with the following: "However, the policy of the administration will soon be made known, as observed above, the matter will be submitted to the cabinet to-morrow, after which the president will no doubt listen attentively to the suggestions of all who come to make them. He will then again counsel with his cabinet on Friday and after that take such steps as may be deemed expedient.

A CATCHING COMPLAINT.

A CUTE WAY OF FLANKING AN EGOTIST.

The Aldermen of Brooklyn Adopt an Electoral Commission to Settle the Claim to the Presidency.

BROOKLYN, March 12.—The board of aldermen, since their election, have been unable to organize, owing to the obstinacy of one of their number always voting for himself as president of the board.

This afternoon they resolved to resort to the appointment of an electoral commission to accomplish their object, and for that purpose adopted a resolution providing for the election of seven members of the common council from each political party, who are empowered to select the 15th man, also a member, to act as a commission to elect a president of the board for the remainder.

The work of the board has up to the present been transacted by the committees of that body.

THE THREE CROWS.

Blaine Picking a Bone With Evarts and Schurz.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Senator Blaine dined Saturday night with Secretary Evarts and Secretary Schurz. The three gentlemen are said to have had a hearty laugh over the reports that Mr. Blaine had been trying to defeat their confirmation before the senate.

In the afternoon Mr. Blaine attended the reception at the white house, and was received with very marked cordiality by both the president and Mrs. Hayes.

The First Meeting of the Cabinet To-Day—Taken into Chadband's Confidence—No Immediate Changes of Carpet-bag Officeholders.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The cabinet meets at 10 o'clock to-morrow, when the secretaries will take the oath of office.

The president, vice president and Secretary Evarts had a long consultation to day.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The cabinet was sworn in by Judge Cartter. Subsequently there was a general conversation preliminary to the first regular meeting to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Vice-president Wheeler knows nothing of the president's intention to send him south at the head of a confirming compromising commission.

Gov. Hampton in his request to have the troops withdrawn from the state addresses the commander in chief of the army of the United States.

The president did not occupy the pew reserved for him yesterday by Parson Newman at the Metropolitan church. A writer in the Republican says he visited the Foundry church.

Chamberlain is expected here within 48 hours.

French Minister Washburne is here settling up his affairs with the state department.

Evarts replaced Fish to-day with usual formalities.

The secretary took possession of the war office formally by Gen. Sherman.

Gen. Garfield, at the suggestion of Hayes, it is said, withdraws from the contest for Sherman's place in the senate.

Sherman took formal possession of the treasury at noon.

Key takes hold of the postoffice to-morrow.

Fred Seward, son of the ex secretary, becomes first assistant secretary of state, vice Cadwallader.

Postmaster General Key did not take iron-clad oath.

Secretary of the navy, Thompson, had not arrived.

Chandler presented the heads of bureaus to Schurz.

Chandler said to Schurz when he came into office he found abuses in the department, especially in patent and Indian bureaus, which required heroic treatment, and he had used the knife freely. He commended and presented the incumbents to the confidence of Mr. Schurz.

Schruz replied in complimentary of Chandler's administration. When addressing the clerks, Schurz said he intended to run the machine on business principles.

The supreme court after several minor opinions adjourned to pay their respects to the president.

W. K Upton was assigned to duty as chief clerk of the treasury department.

At a cabinet meeting to-day Evarts and Schurz were appointed commissioners to frame civil service rules for several departments.

The cabinet will probably omit to-morrow's meeting, but will assemble Wednesday.

The colored delegation from Richmond waited on the president in behalf of the retention of Miss Van Lew for the Richmond postoffice.

R. A. Young has been appointed postmaster at Petersburg, Va. He is regarded as a compromise candidate. There are many federal office holders from the south here. They have the assurance that there will be no early or general changes except for cause.

There is uneasiness in Spanish circles, caused by the presence of Schurz and Evarts in the cabinet.

D. MUCILAGE KEY.

HE UNBURDENS HIS MIND OF CERTAIN MATTERS.

While He Represents the South in the Cabinet, Yet Republicans Need not be Afraid of Him.

NEW YORK, March 12.—A Washington special to the Times says:

It is understood that Postmaster General Key has intimated to Mr. Tyner that he would like to have him remain as first assistant postmaster general and take charge of the appointments, particularly those for the northern states.

Mr. Tyner declines to remain in the department as a subordinate, but will assist the new postmaster general whenever his advice and experience will serve in carrying out his plans.

Mr. Key will ask the president to name for first assistant postmaster general a representative republican, in order that the republicans of the country may feel assured that he intends to act in perfect accord with that party, and to assist the president in administering the government in the interest of all the people.

Mr. Key says he was invited to a seat in the cabinet to represent the south, and his purpose is to give personal attention to that section.

TINKERING THE TARIFF.

A New Set of Freight Rates Adopted.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The new tariff of freight rates, west bound, went into operation to-day. Some doubts are expressed by railroad men as to whether it will be satisfactory, as many leading merchants have contracted with companies and made special rates to all points west.

The old rules were: to Chicago, first class, 50 cents; second, 45 cents; third, 4 cents; fourth, 40 cents; special, 25 cents per hundred pounds.

The new rates agreed upon by all the roads are made on the basis of 75 cents per hundred pounds for first-class, and so along the list.

This has been the result of a general meeting here a short time ago, and it is supposed will finally terminate the railroad war. This is doubtful, as already rumors of the tariff being violated are abroad.

"TRODDEN DOWN."

Funeral of the Victims of the Xavier Tragedy.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The St. Francis Xavier church panic funeral services were celebrated to-day over the remains, in the chapel of Calvary cemetery, after which interment took place. Vast crowds attended each of the funerals. Rare and beautiful flowers were strewn on and around the coffins of all, evincing deep sorrow and sympathy of the bereaved friends. Many persons were attracted to the funerals, owing to the tragic manner in which the victims met their deaths.

Sherman's Slipshod Slippers.

COLUMBUS, March 12.—The republicans caucus to-morrow for a successor to Sherman in the senate.

EXECUTIVE OUTGIVINGS.

MR. HAYES LETS IN A LITTLE LIGHT UPON HIS VIEWS.

The Ground to be First Carefully Surveyed—He Insists that There must be an Honorable Way Out: Perhaps by an Electoral Commission!

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The Tribune's special from Washington:

In a conversation with a member of congress on the Louisiana and South Carolina question, the president said, on Saturday, that in making up his mind as to the best course to pursue to secure harmony in these states, he should not allow himself to be embarrassed by the idea that he must do nothing that would seem to effect injuriously the validity of his own title to office. That matter he thought had been authoritatively and finally decided. He did not believe that there would be any disposition to higgle about his title if his administration commended itself by its acts to the judgments of the country.

As soon as the members of the cabinet were fairly settled in the capitol, he should ask their careful consideration of the situation in the two states having conflicting governments, and he was confident that with their advice some method of solving the problems presented would be found which would be fair and just and satisfactory to the people of these states. Several ways out of the difficulty have been considered by him, but he should not adopt any method in a hurry or without much more deliberation than he has a right to give to the subject.

In all conversations which the president has held with prominent men in the vexatious matter, he has expressed the same confidence that there could be found a safe and honorable road out of troubles proceeding from a conflict of authority. At the same time he made it clear that the maintenance of state government by the presence of the federal army is repugnant to his ideas and can no longer be tolerated.

TWINS OF TRICKERY.

THE DIPLOMACY OF CONTENDING FACTIONS.

Ex Gov. Scott Declares Himself for Hampton—An Important Conference—The De Facto President to Consider the Matter This Week.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senators Lamar and Gordon, and Representatives Randall and Gibson had a consultation with the cabinet this afternoon, and with the president to-night.

The interview to-night between Gordon, Lamar, Gibson and the president was with regard to the status quo in South Carolina and Louisiana. The action was in response to numerous appeals, and the president's visitors urged the withdrawal of troops from the state houses in New Orleans and Columbia, and sought to know the disposition of the president in that matter. The conversation was perfectly free, and was dealt with on both sides with entire candor as to the length of time that will elapse before a final result on this matter is reached.

Senator Gordon declines at present any expression of opinion further than that he is satisfied that no unnecessary delay will be had, and that not more than a few weeks will intervene before a final solution will appear.

The leading idea with the president and his advisers is to compromise Chamberlain and Packard out of their claims to be governors of South Carolina and Louisiana. The most ardent friends of the gentlemen mentioned have abandoned all hope that they will be kept in, or rather forced into gubernatorial power by the military. The southern leaders are in more haste than the administration is disposed to make. It is claimed for both Chamberlain and Packard that they are good men and have been faithful to the party, and must be allowed to evacuate their unfortunate positions with all the honors of war.

Ex-Governor Scott, of South Carolina, in a published letter, concedes Hampton's election, and favors his recognition in order to secure peace and prosperity. In the course of the letter Gov. Scott states that Chief Justice Moses and his associate justices, Willard and Wright, recognized Hampton by making a requisition on him for their salaries and accepting the money.

WILLING FOR PEACE.

ACTION OF THE NICHOLLS LEGISLATURE.

They Approve the Spirit of the President's Inaugural, and Promise to Aid Him in the Restoration of Harmony.

NEW ORLEANS, March 12.—The Nicholls legislature adopted the following:

Whereas, The inaugural address of the present executive of the nation indicates a fixed determination to restore harmony to the people of the south by establishing a policy of pacification for one of coercion, and by recognizing the rights of said people of the south to local self-government, free from federal interference; therefore be it

Resolved, That we accept this declaration of the national executive of a non intervention with the affairs of the state as a happy augury for the future, as made in good faith and in the true spirit of the constitution, and this general assembly will earnestly co-operate with Presiden Hayes in every effort to restore the confidence and fraternal relations among the whole people of this great country, and to this end it pledges all the power and influence at its command to secure the great objects for which governments were instituted, viz: To guarantee protion of life, liberty and property to every human being within its borders.

The indications are that the Nicholls legislature will not elect a United States senator during the present extra session.

Gov. Packard remains constantly at the state house, attending to such business as comes before him. He stated to-day to a reporter that he had as full confidence as ever in the final success of his government.

THE OLD LAND.

COUNT SCHOUVALOFF THREATENING LONDON.

A Diplomatic Note That is Believed to Contain Balm for the Wounds of Turkey and the Pride of Russia.

LONDON, March 12.—Count Schouvaloff left Paris yesterday for this city. The Observer says he brings a note which he is ordered to communicate to Earl Derby immediately, proposing that the European powers and the porte sign a protocal guaranteeing the reform, and placing the Rajahs under the protection of the powers.

Reuter's dispatch from Constantinople says the council of ministers to-day raised objections to several of the Montenegrins demands, particularly to the cession of Nicsics. The Montenegrins have resolved to maintain all demands.

A Vienna correspondent of the Times says: The information that the negotiations now proceeding will turn on the signing of an inter-national protocol is now comfirmed from so many sources that it can be no longer doubted. The porte is to pledge itself in a potocol countersigned by the powers, that it will carry out the reforms agreed upon by the powers in the preliminary conference, this may be taken as the essence of the Russian proposals. Russia does not seem to have abandoned the hope of finding a form for the international document which will overcome British objections. Count Schouvaloff's return to London indicates that it is thought some such form has been found.

The correspondent alleges that he has good information that Russia is ready to make great conceseions as regards form, provided the real essence of the proposal is accepted. Not only does there seem to be no intention to insist upon an agreement about the eventual measures of coercion, but everything is to be avoided beyond the present assent to, and signature by the powers of the protocol, which might entail obligations for the future. In this way it is thought the assent of England may be secured.

LONDON, March 12.—The Post in a leading article, announces that a cabinet council will be held immediately to decide upon the acceptability of the proposal brought by Count Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador.

LONDON, March 12.—The Pall Mall Gazette in a leading article says, we don't believe the signature of the projected protocol will give any security of peace. Already, if reports from Bosnia are true, forces are at work there to prepare another series of outrages, which might precipitate the very war which the protocol is intended to prevent. Dread has been expressed, that if Russia is allowed to commence war with Turkey, this may afford Germany an opportunity of making the attack upon France, which it is commonly supposed she was restrained from making.

BERLIN, March 12.—Herr Loe, formerly secretary of the German embassy at Paris, Count Hermann Von Arnim and Dr. Gehlzen, editor of the Reichsglocke newspaper, have been tried and convicted in the municipal court of Berlin, of violating of the press laws in publishing certain articles in the Reichsglocke. Hermann, who is a son of Count Henry Von Arnim, was sentenced to imprisonment for three months; Loe, one year, and Gehlzen for five years.

LONDON, March 12.—A Reuter's telegram from Versailles says that the left strongly oppose the railway convention bill. It is reported in parliamentary circles that in taking this course the left look at the overthrow of M. Christopher, minister of public works, in order that he may be replaced by a person more agreeable to M. Gambetta.

PARIS, March 12.—The election last Saturday of Dupuy de Lume, Bonapartist, for the senatorship in place of General Changarier, was owing to the coalition of the Bonapartists and legitimists, and what is more painful to say of the constitutional Orleanist. The liance of the Bonapartists and legitimists has become a solid fact acquired by hatred of the republic, but the defection of the constitutional Orleanist, at the head of which is de Andrifret Pasquier, and the rest of the senate, associating itself with the violent parties of the right to reject a moderate republican candidate of incontestable uprightness, is an act of flagrant political immorality, even in a country where immoral coalitions in political matters occur as often as in France.

MATILDA'S DEAD MARCH.

Dropping of the Curtain over the Last Act.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The funeral of Matilda Herron took place at 2 p. m. to-day from the church of Transfiguration, better known as the "Little church around the corner."

An immense concourse was gathered around the church, and before the coffin arrived it was necessary to close the doors to keep out the throng.

Some twenty floral contributions from the friends and pupils of the deceased were placed on the altar steps. The coffin lids were covered with wreaths of flowers.

Rev. Dr. Houghton conducted the Episcopal church service. There was no sermon, and at the close of the service the remains were taken to Greenwood cemetery.

Deceased woman's daughter, Bijou, and several lady pupils of deceased, were mourners.

HAYES' SOUTHERN POLICY.

WHAT THE LATEST SOUTHERN PAPERS THINK OF IT.

A Variety of Opinions.

No, the democracy will not disintegrate, but such success, achieved by such means, will surely work the speedy disintegration of the republican party.

The just southern policy of the new administration is already bearing fruit in South Carolina, as a glance at the financial report published to-day will show. Every description of local security, with one or two exceptions, has advanced in price since Monday.

Charleston Journal of Commerce

We withhold our congratulations to the long suffering people of our state until Generals Augur and Ruger have actually received the orders of the president to withdraw the troops from the state houses.

Richmond Whig.

Mr. Hayes is already claimed by some of his surprised and enthusiastic southern supporters as being "a northern man with southern principles." We hope not, indeed. Van Buren disgusted us with all such characters years ago. We prefer northern men with national principles.

Selma Times.

If Returning Board Hayes and his advisers and admirers imagine that Mr. Key will draw any strength to his administration from the democrats, then they are wofully mistaken. Mr. Key's democracy is a little too thin, and his letter to Hayes demonstrates that he is a place hunter.

Raleigh News.

The significance of the appointment of Judas Key is in its notice to the south that the new administration has no purpose which cannot be freely disclosed to and discussed with an honorable representative of their own section, and who is in full sympathy with the best demands in the southern opposition party.

Richmond Enquirer.

Some of our southern exchanges are urging that we accept the olive branch the northern press is extending to us in its efforts to break the solid south." We do not imagine that our people will be loth to accept any tender of peace; but breaking the solid south is another thing. If we were not solid (and our being so is the result of radical persecution) it is very doubtful whether any advances would have been made to us.

New Orleans Democrat.

If the democratic senators, as a body, stand by Mr. Hayes in the fight he is making for the south, they will display both statesmanship and political sagacity. This is the only course by which the south can be saved to the democracy, and the democratic senators know it. If the advice of the World is followed, the democratic party will never again, in this generation, carry a southern state; nay, not even Texas or Georgia.

Baltimore Sun.

In any earnest effort of his to put down the disorganizers, give peace to union and local self-government to the states, he may depend with reasonable confidence on obtaining a generous support outside the republican ranks, for there are many men who regard the welfare of the country as above party, and who feel that the interests of the people in their material enterprises and avocations require for their development a season of peace and good will.

Galveston News.

Public opinion judges parties as well as administrations. It will demand that the administration of Hayes shall be supported by democrats as well as republicans in every particular in which, from a non-partisan view it may deserve support. It holds that parties, as far as they are useful, are made for the country, not the country for any party. Under the prevalence of this opinion the party will do best for the country.

Knoxville Tribune.

The net product, so far, of the southern programme, in actual results, may be briefly summed up in the appointment of Senator Key to a place in the cabinet; and this, it seems, was made upon the urgent solicitation of Tennessee republicans, whose purposes, we all know, could have had no higher or more patriotic aim than the dismemberment of the democratic party of this state. For the rest, as yet—"Vox et preterea nihil."

Richmond Dispatch.

The extraordinary circumstances of an entire change in policy by the republican party must in a serious measure cause disintegration in their ranks, and there must occur changes and transpositions which may put, and more than probably will put, a new face on party affairs. But just now the welfare of the nation is the absorbing question, and we can all leave party concerns to take care of themselves with this confident faith, that nothing that is far and just can damage that great motive which animated the very soul of the democratic party in its great struggle during last summer's campaign.

Memphis Avalance.

Every word abusing a southern conservative for taking an official place, is an argument furnished the Mortons and Blaines in favor of the system which has proved so disastrous since "reconstruction" began. We do not charge these so called democratic obstructionists with lack of patriotism. No doubt they mean well; but they show the same lack of wisdom displayed a few years ago in attempting to commit the south to unalterable opposition to the constitutional amendments as a test of democracy. They are simply blind as bats.

Richmond Enquirer.

We repeat that it is not necessary for the south to barter away her honor if the president's policy is dictated by a sense of right, justice, and patriotism. We can co operate with him in pacification without forming a new party alliance. If he rises superior to partisanship it will not matter if the south is democratic, conservative, or what not. If he believes in local self-government and has determined that it shall be maintained, he will not desire a split in our party organization that he well knows will jeopardize our every interest—he will not ask us to place ourselves in a position to be preyed upon by thieves and cormorants.

Memphis Appeal.

The creature elected president by fraud dare not break with his creators—the men that bulldozed him—and in less than three months the extreme radicals will have absorbed David M. Key; and as new converts are always noisy and vindictive, he will be found cheek-by-jowl with Morton, Blaine, Hayes & Co., in organizing new returning boards with power to steal the office of president in the next election. Tyler and Andrew Johnson wrecked their administrations by defying the parties that elected them, and a little man like D. M. Key, repudiated by the people of his own state, and never a representative man of the south, will yield to the demands of Blaine and Morton as the frail reed bends to the storm.

Louisville Advertiser.

The political outlook is not unfavorable for the south, so far as President Hayes personally has to do with her future, and the southern people are buoyed up by a new hope inspired by his break with the ultra wing of his party, who have been feeding off of her substance. They are hopeful that the president will prove to be a friend in disguise, and that the cloud that envelops his title to the office of chief magistrate may have a silver lining. The latent energies of the southern people which have long been restrained by perspective bankruptcy, will be brought into full play if this new hope is not dashed to the ground by the triumph of the ultra republican element over the president's scruples.

Augusta Constitutionalist.

We believe that in Hayes' effort to divide the southern democracy, by consolidating against them the "old line whigs," nothing but disappointment will ensue. But if there is anything in this project, and if any of our leaders are conspiring to compass this result, let the facts be known. Until this project assumes tangible proportions, we make bold to repel it as a slander upon former whigs. Until any public man of the south, elected to office by democratic votes, shall confess participation in such scheme, we shall assume that he has been libelled. If any man wants to know what political damnation in Georgia means, let him announce his policy in conformity to that of Hayes and the Cincinnati Gazette.

Nashville American.

"The dawn of a new era in southern politics," is the way some of our exchanges put it. It is not necessary to gush at all. The south has been so long held in political bondage that the mere promise of a better policy renders excusable, no doubt, some little enthusiasm, and perhaps exaggerated anticipations. It will be better, however, for the southern people to maintain the calm, imperturbable temper which has been tried in the school of adversity, and which has characterized them throughout the recent political struggle. There is no necessity for leaping open-armed into support of an administration which was seated by a gross violation of the rights of the very people it now offers to protect. To accept the benefits which may accrue, to support whatever measures are good, to wait quietly for developments, will best comport with the dignity and the love for principle characteristic to the southern people.

THE CONFIRMATIONS.

How the Disappointed Senators Swallowed the Pill.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—As soon as the senate went into executive session to-day the various cabinet nominations were in turn reported back from the committee, accompanied in each case with a unanimous recommendation for confirmation. A motion was then made to take up the nomination of David M. Key, as postmaster general, for immediate action. A single objection would have prevented action upon it to-day, but no objection was interposed, and the vote upon the question of confirming it was taken by yeas and nays, and resulted: Yeas, 54; nays, 2; the negative votes being cast by democrats. This vote seemed to be regarded as a test of the strength of opposition to the remaining nominations, and no further opposition was made against any of them beyond a demand for the roll call in the cases of Schurz and Evarts. The vote on Schurz's nomination was 44 for confirmation and 2 against. The vote on Evarts' nomination was about the same. Quite a number of senators on both sides abstained from voting, a few negative votes in each instance were cast by democrats. Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, voted for Evarts, Schurz and Key, remarking that his vote for Evarts was under what he regarded as instructions, the committee on foreign relations having instructed him to report favorably. Mr. Conkling refrained from voting on his nomination. The nominations of George W. McCrary, to be secretary of war, Richard W. Thompson, to be secretary of the navy, and Charles Devens, to be attorney general, were confirmed without roll call or even division. News of the confirmation was received at the White House and at the executive department almost as soon as the action of the senate was taken, and elicited very satisfactory expressions. The president simply said that he was very glad of the prompt action.

The president will send a hundred nominations to the senate Tuesday, among them probably the names of Asa O. Aldis, of Vermont, James B. Howell, of Iowa, and Orange Ferris, of New York, to be southern claims commissioners. Among the names presented to-day for the commissionership of this district is that of S. E. Middleton, twelve years cashier in the treasury and now one of the leading bankers of this city.

Several persons interested in river and harbor improvements called upon the president and received assurances that the appropriations heretofore withheld would probably be allowed to be used when the new secretary of war assumes the duties of his office.

A Result of Obstructed Digestion.

Among the hurtful consequences of obstructed digestion, is the impoverishment of the blood, and since a deteriorative condition of the vital fluid not only produces dangerous organic weakness, but, according to the best medical authorities, sometimes causes asphyxia, it is apparent that to improve the quality of the blood by promoting digestion and assimilation, is a wise precaution. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely the remedy for this purpose, since it stimulates the gastric juices, corrects those bilious and evacuative irregularities which interfere with the digestive processes, promotes assimilation of the food by the blood, and purifies as well as enriches it. The signs of improvement in health in consequence of using the Bitters are speedily apparent in an accession of vigor, a gain in bodily substance, and a regular and act performance of every physical function.

The Atlanta Daily Constitution

TUESDAY, MORNING MARCH 13, 1877.

THE SENATE.

The democrats are to-day stronger in this body than they have been in seventeen years, and the body is more closely divided than it has been in thirty years. All the claimants are now seated except those from South Carolina and Louisiana, and we can now give the strength of the parties with exactness:

Republicans	38
Democrats	33
Independent	1
Vacancies	4
Total	76

The "independent" senator is Judge Davis, of Illinois, who was elected by democrats, and who has not thus far voted against them. Messrs. Booth and Christiancy were elected as independents, chiefly by democratic votes, but we class the two last-named with the republicans, because they generally vote with them. Judge Davis has not attended a caucus of either party, but he will probably vote with the democrats. The republicans are trying to capture him by giving him prominent places on the committees, but he is too old a bird to be caught in that way. All three—Booth, Christiancy and Davis—voted with the democrats on the test question of swearing in Kellogg.

If the three vacancies remain unfilled until December, events would probably render the admission of the democratic claimants unavoidable. Corbin's title to a seat is ridiculously thin, while General Butler's title would be fortified before December so as to be impregnable. The senate having rejected Pinchback, Mr. Eustis' claim to the short term is not contested outside of the senate. The recent vote foreshadows the defeat of Kellogg; and we therefore anticipate the seating of three more democratic senators in December; thus bringing the democratic strength up to 36, not including either Davis, Booth or Christiancy. The fourth vacancy is that of John Sherman's, which will soon be filled by a republican.

In any event the supremacy of the republicans rests on a narrow foundation. A change of three votes destroys it. The New Hampshire senators can not vote to-day because their presence is necessary in Washington to let their party retain control of the senate; and the effect of the nearly even balance now existing between the two political parties is to maintain a full senate, at least doing the consideration of political questions. The sickness of Mr. Edmunds, and the absence of Mr. Ferry absolutely compels the attendance of the other republican senators just at present in order to assure a party triumph on any vote. The New York World's Washington correspondent says that for all practical purposes their majority is gone now, as was shown in the vote referring the Louisiana case, and as will be shown hereafter in questions arising out of the present complications. An examination of the list of republican senators who go out with the forty-fifth congress shows unmistakably that after the 4th of March, 1879, the senate will be democratic.

Although the democrats constitute nearly one-half of the senate, yet they are allowed on the more important committees but three out of nine members, and on the non-political committees four out of nine. Morton's committee on prigileges and elections, for example, is packed in favor of Kellogg. Messrs. Thurman, Johnston and Bayard are assigned to chairmanships of minor committees. Blaine is the only one of the new members who is at the head of a committee—that on civil service and retrenchment. Mr. Hill is number nine of the committee on privileges and elections. He is also a member of the committees on revolutionary claims and on mines and mining. In each instance the republicans have put him at the tail-end. He will be heard from just the same, however, in due season. Gen. Gordon is number eight of the committee of commerce; number five of the committee on agriculture, and number eight of education and labor. His assignment to the committee on commerce is a gain of a democrat in that important direction.

Nor is the numerical strength of the democrats all that has been gained. The addition of Messrs. Morgan, Garland, Hill, Beck, Lamar, Grover, Harris, Bailey, Coke and Hereford has strengthened the democratic side more in force than in number; and to-day the preponderance of ability is on the opposition side of the chamber.

THE FUTURE OF SAVANNAH.

The resolutions offered by Dr. J. J. Waring, one of the members of the city council of Savannah, proposing, in effect, to place that city upon the list of insolvent corporations, have been defeated, as they should have been. While Savannah has been seriously embarrassed by the plague of yellow fever, an event utterly unforeseen and unanticipated, it is not too much to say that her financial prospects are as promising as those of other cities. Her people are industrious, energetic and hopeful, and only the co-operation of those who have control of her future to promptly and heartily put in practice those sanitary measures which sad experience has demonstrated to be necessary, to develop once more that spirit of business enterprise and activity which has made Savannah the second cotton port of the south. It is our hope and belief that a grand commercial future awaits our sister city. It is only necessary that she shall be prudently and wisely governed, and that her sanitary affairs be administered with that promptness and thoroughness which economy would seem to dictate.

THE ultras say that the democrats have a majority of one in the cabinet. It seems that Key, Evarts, Schurz and Devens voted for Greeley, leaving only three true-blue republicans—Sherman, McCrary and Uncle Dick Thompson.

HAYES' SOUTHERN POLICY.

We print this morning a wide range of opinions gathered from southern exchanges that came to our table yesterday. They are fresh opinions, based on facts that have been in the possession of the public several days. We shall add, on Thursday morning, another column of similar comment, and continue doing so, until our readers know what the rest of the south thinks of the propositions that the administration is putting forth.

It is already plain that, while great distrust exists, the people of the south will welcome any good that Mr. Hayes may bestow; that all wise and just measures will be accorded proper support; but that neither he nor any one else need expect to destroy the essential unity of the southern people while a common danger is to be apprehended. For they know, as do all other sensible men, that there must always be two parties in this country—a conservative and a radical party. The one will uphold the rights of the states; the other will favor centralization and all that un-American word implies. The people of the south know that their material interests, and their civil liberty are safe in the hands of the one and unsafe in those of the other. Desertion from the party that can and will protect us will be considered a blow aimed at all that the south holds dear.

There is no danger of a permanent division on the line that Mr. Hayes is marking out; but his scheme may create much temporary trouble. Demagogues may utilize it to divide the people in some sections of the south, thus defeating in this or that district, perhaps in a whole state, the nominees of the party, and awakening hopes at the north that the "solid south," after all, is a fiction. No such hope should be permitted to spring up. No such divisions should be permitted to weaken our influence. Our unity in the cause of conservatism and home rule is our glory, the nation's best hope, and the salvation of our republican institutions. Let the democratic backbone be stiffened wherever it is weak, and the success of democratic principles is assured. Mr. Hayes and the republican party do now confess that our principles of government are correct, and we have only to bear with patience the restrictions of the constitution to win an overwhelming and enduring victory. The disintegration of the republican, not of the democratic party, will take place, and falsehood, fraud and federalism be put under foot.

OUR BUSINESS PROSPECTS.

Now that the great political crisis has been peacefully bridged over, it is to be hoped that our people will turn their attention to the more material issues of the day—the issues of business. The inevitable is upon us, and it is but just to admit, in the outset, that the inevitable, however distasteful it may be to our ideas of justice and right, promises well for the future—speaking in a practical and not a political sense.

We have the promise that the southern people will be left to administer their own affairs, and if that promise should take the substantial shape of an assurance, the victory of the southern democracy will by no means be a small one. Such a promise means everything. It means peace, and quiet, and good government; it means honesty and reform in the state government; and it means a respite from the knavish rule of the carpet-bagger. Under these circumstances, it behooves our people to turn their attention to business, and to allow these matters to shape themselves. Enthusiasm of the sort that causes people to give themselves wholly over to political discussion has an excellent excuse for folding its frayed wings, and allowing the problems that now confront us to gravitate to whatever conclusion providence may have in store for us.

There is everything that is hopeful in the business prospects. Trade gives the most promising symptoms of a steady revival, and there is every reason to believe that the reaction from the almost unparalleled commercial depression that had its origin in the unfortunate crash of 1873—a reaction that is inevitable—has already set in. There are evidences of improvement in every quarter. The mills and manufactories of the north and east give unmistakable signs of preparation, and the tide of prosperity which has for so long been completely lost in the chaotic waters of the distrust and adversity seems about to flow in once more and cover the commercial wrecks that whiten the shore.

In these trying times, the people have learned the sore lessons of patience and economy, and these lessons will serve them well in the future. Speculation will be somewhat less adventurous, and enterprise will be restricted, it is true, but it will be better for the country that they should be confined to legitimate channels. It was the ardor of unwise speculation and the enthusiasm of misdirected enterprise that led to the crash of 1873, and the lesson taught them has been as wholesome as it has been severe. It is in the power of all to contribute something to this renaissance, (if we may be allowed to use the word in this connection) and to assist materially in the development of that commercial prosperity which naturally belongs to such a country as ours.

MR. W. C. RICHARDSON, the representative in the legislature from Whitfield county, talked all the time the legislature was in session, and since his return has spent a good deal of his time in writing about what he accomplished. He makes very broad statements in his communications, and one would suppose, judging from what he says, that he was the only member of the house. But then it must be recollected that he did ask other members to help him to donate a part of his pay.

HAYES is simply plotting to detach the old whig and Douglas democrats, whom he expects to organize into a strong administration party of whites, to whom the blacks are expected to adhere. It is a beautiful plan, but it won't fill.

SPEER OR ARCHER.

Mr. Emory Speer's "reform" squeak has narrowed itself down to one of the weakest planks of the silliest platform that was ever upheld by any person whose natural abilities are as promising as those of Mr. Speer. This is to be greatly deplored, not only on Mr. Speer's account, but on account of the fact that a radical candidate has made his appearance in the field—a candidate who, advocated and endorsed by Farrow, will be likely to solidify the entire republican vote of the district. "Reform" is a most convenient blanket with which to hide personal ambition and a premature longing for office, but it is neither wide enough nor thick enough to conceal the fact that it in this instance, it is an attempt to bring about disorganization and defeat to the organized democracy, and the democrats should be alive to these contingencies, and stand up for the party. Let them remember that a vote for Speer is a vote for Archer. If there is any disposition on the part of any democrat to aid republicanism, let them vote for Archer outright, not for Speer.

AN ex-republican member of congress "from one of the southern states" went to see the president, and came away, says the correspondent, without an office. He next applied to one of the new cabinet appointees, and was informed that it would be "the policy of Gov. Hayes's administration to put none but natives in office in the south." He left Washington an outraged patriot.

He is affable, kind, and very clear-headed in all his rulings—and preserves order without any unnecessary show of authority. He is disposing of the business in Clayton very rapidly.

THE vicissitudes of politics were shown in the senate last week. Five weeks ago Messrs. Bailey and Key were rival candidates for the United States senate. Mr. Key was beaten, and last week Mr. Bailey was one of the committee charged with the duty of reporting whether his former rival was fit for a cabinet position under a republican president. He concluded that he was.

A CORRESPONDENT in the Dalton Enterprise suggests the name of Col L. N. Trammell, of Whitfield county, as a suitable candidate for the convention. Col. Trammell was a delegate in the convention of 1868, and made an able and useful member. We hope the citizens of the 43d district will select him as one of the delegates.

"H. V. R." has become one of the lions of the capital. He rides out with the president, hobnobs with cabinet ministers, and carries a high hand generally. He is achieving fame, and, we hope, the fattest office in the gift of the president. To war, literature and medicine he has now added statesmanship, and his laurels are all fairly won.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer complains that "Senator Barnum, the new chairman of the national democratic committee, is a fink of the same old saugage." It growls because the democracy did not go west for a chairman.

THERE were two precincts in the United States where Cooper's vote was larger than that of Tilden and Hayes combined At Morgantown, Kentucky, the vote was, Cooper, 171; Tilden, 83; Hayes 73; and in the fifth precinct of the adjoining county Cooper received 121; Hayes, 62 and Tilden 13.

THE ages of the cabinet officers are as follows: Mr Thompson is sixty-seven, Mr. Evarts is fifty eight, Judge Devens fifty-six, Sherman fifty-four, Key fifty-three, Schurz forty-eight and McCrary forty-two. That cabinet may be said to be in the vigor of intellectual manhood

THE legislature of Alabama has just passed a law permitting aliens to take property in that state by devise or descent. WHAT with Evarts, Schurz and Thompson, the new cabinet has more of the literary element than any Washington has seen for a long time. Mr. Evarts is an accomplished scholar, whose speeches lose nothing in print of grace and rhetorical purity; Mr. Schurz is a writer of experience and strength, and R. W. Thompson has recently published a volume on "The Papacy and the Civil Power."

THAT was a touching scene when Joe Coburn, the pugilist, was received at Sing Sing on a ten years' sentence. He was informed that by good behavior three years and a half of his sentence could be saved. Then his friend Mallahan wept, and the deputy sheriffs, not to be outdone, also wept. The reporter uttered "good bye" in a tremulous tone of voice, after which the prison physician heroically removed the prisoner without betraying very great emotion Joe was determined to "hit 'em hard" to the last.

"IT'S all very well," remarked a red-nosed man in a bad hat and an ulster of the vintage of '73, "it's all very well to say let business revive, but what we want, sir, is confidence, public confidence, sir. ON the 1st of February the Brazilian parliament opened at Rio Janeiro; 100 conservatives and 20 liberals were present. The speech of the princess regent was brief. She said that fortunately the country was free from epidemics; peace reigned throughout the land, and the application of the new electoral system and the new law on recruiting have produced good results. She congratulated the people on the adoption of the popular school system, on the completion of several lines of railroad and the commencement of new lines.

THE rumor that Brigham Young, jr., is to plant a colony of 500 Mormons in the Mexican state of Sonora is not improbable. Last spring a reconnoissance was made by agents of the Mormon prophet into Arizona with the avowed purpose of fixing some permanent settlements there, and a number of families from Utah have since settled in that territory. There is now a chain of Mormon villages extending from Bear river southwestward to Arizona. It has long been foreseen by the leaders that the resources of Utah are insufficient to sustain so large a population as their hopes and ambition lead them to anticipate, even in the present generation. They must have more room. The bleak and barren region to the north of Salt Lake presents no inducements; the south offers good climate, rich soil and abundance of water and timber.

THE husband of one of the daughters of Commodore Vanderbilt being unfortunate in business, many years ago, she went to her father for assistance, which was refused in a manner more forcible than elegant. She abruptly withdrew to fight for complete independence. The next morning the New York of those days was highly surprised to read the following advertisement specially displayed: "Mrs. —— desires to state that she has excellent table board and accommodations for families or single gentlemen Refers to her father, C Vanderbilt." That advertisement appeared exactly one time, for the commodore realized the situation, advanced backward promptly, and there was no more dissension in that branch of the family forever afterward.—Buffalo Advertiser.

Fruit.

Montgomery State Journal.

We regret to hear that the late cold snap has probably killed all the fruit in the northern portion of our state. One of our northern Alabama exchanges of the 8th inst., says that it is informed by several farmers that there is no doubt that a great deal of the fruit in north Alabama, both north and south of the Tennessee river, has been killed in the bud. It has not happened more than once before within the memory of the "veritable oldest" that the fruit was killed before it came to the blooming period, and we hope that there is a mistake about it, but it looks very much as though we will have very little, if any, peaches this year in this section.

Rates Reduced to $3 per Day.

HAVING leased the Planters from Mr. B. P. Chatfield, I enter upon its management by reducing rates and asking of the traveling public especially my friends of Carolina and Georgia, a continuance of their generous support.

The decreased prices of all commodities necessary to the maintenance of a thoroughly first class Hotel are such as to induce me to make this reduction without the risk of impairing its well known reputation.

Assuring all who may favor me with their patronage that the high standard of excellence for which the Planters was noted during the proprietorship of Mr. Chatfield will be rigidly maintained, I am very respectfully,

The Atlanta Daily Constitution

THEY MET—THEY PARTED.

Upon the sofa, as they sat.
The lovers talked in pleasant chat
Of that and this, and this and that,
But of the wedding mainly—
Their wedding, which was soon to be,
And Sue and Gus did quite agree;
He said "yes yes," to all that she Thought, in her judgment, best would be.
"One thing, dear Gus, I think should be Understood now quite plainly."

"Go on;" said Gus, "just speak it out;
I've not the faintest shade of doub,
That still in all things we'll agree
And end as we've begun—
'Two souls with but a single thought,
Two hearts that beat as one!'"
A loving smile, a tender squeeze,
Gus added to his language;
Then Sue these softly spoken words
Between his hugs did sandwich.

"Of course mamma will live with us,
And 'rule the roost,' my darling Gus,
For that, you know, she's use' ter."
"Not much!" cried Gus, in temper high.
And grasped his hat, and cried "Good by,
That settles it 'twixt you and I!
Recorded is my vow on high;
No mother in-law, with threatening eye,
And tongue all peace to cruelty,
Shall ever rule this rooster!"

ROUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA.

—Covington poets fight each other with sonnets—and a sonnet from a Covington poet is a pretty considerable chunk of verse.

—Watson, of the Macon Telegraph, will never again say that a member of a bal masque represents the character of a gentleman.

—Richardson, of the Savannah News, has had his gold-headed walking-stick vaccinated.

—Harris county is getting ready for her usual semi-annual cyclone, and several picnics have been postponed.

—Col. Bill Harris, of Worth, if Speer keeps out of the field, will, probably represent his section as secretary of the constitutional convention.

—Colonel H. H. Jones, of the Macon Telegraph, has returned from Milledgeville.

—Col. Martin, of the Columbus Times, has made no boasts over the fulfillment of his predictions in regard to the electoral commission. Col. Martin is not like some editors.

—Willingham, of the Cartersville Express, refuses to make a virtue of necessity by concurring in the work of the commissioned 8, by accepting office under Hayes. One reason of this is because the fruit season will soon be here —The Count Johannes B. Gormanne, will probably compete for the prize offered by Mr. J. H. Estill, for the best short story from the pen of a Georgia or Florida writer. Indeed, the count, as we are reliably informed, has already chosen the title of his novelette which is "The Fleeting Orange Blossom or The Phantom Grove of Dunais Lake." The story relates with considerable pathos the disappointments of a red-handed ruffian who edited a newspaper, and who is grossly deceived by a remorseless fiend who promises him a box of oranges from Florida. The culmination of the story is at that point where the newspaper villain discovers that the remorseless fiend is the owner of a rice mill. The advertisements of several well-known firms give an air of naturalness to the story that could be imparted in no other way.

—Colonel Waterman, of the LaGrange Reporter, is still in the city, superintending, in all probability, the purchase of a new spring suit. The colonel, it need not be added, is an ardent admirer of THE CONSTITUTION, and is now loud in his praises of the thoroughness of our system of special telegrams.

—Dr. King Wylly desires it to be understood that he is no longer actively connected with any political organization. Colonel Osgood Sanders also desires it understood that unless the weather moderates he will never cast another vote outside of Morgan county.

—Mr. William Rankin, formerly the cashier of the Savannah Morning News office, and one of the most thorough business men in that city, is spending a few days in Atlanta.

—Spring is far enough advanced for some of the young men to be wearing jonquills in their hair.

—The Griffin News of Sunday was probably suspended on account of the weather. At any rate it failed to come to hand.

—Col. W. T. Thompson, the veteran editor of the Morning News. has gone to Florida on a short recuperative tour. During and since the epidemic in Savannah, except when suffering from the disease, Col. Thompson has been closely confined to his editorial duties so closely confined, indeed, that his health has been somewhat impaired. His friends all over the state will join in wishing him a speedy and permanent renewal of his old-time freshness and vigor.

—Albany News: The convicts are as yet a wonder and curiosity to the darkeys on the neighboring plantations. The hills on the Clanton place adjoining are always well filled with negro women and children, when work is progressing in that direction, and they gaze with astonished eyes upon the (to them) curious sight of convict labor. The latter do not relish, however, being made a spectacle of, and woe betide the unlucky wight of color who strolls close to them, to have a look. Whenever they catch a negro sight-seer they take him down, and give him a frailing, unless stopped. The other day two of the convicts had caught a negro who was hanging around, looking, when they were at dinner, and were about to give him a good "frailing" when Capt. Ledbetter came to the rescue. He turned the darkey loose, gave him a start, and then let the convicts chase him a short distance. The negro was pretty badly scared, and made tracks so fast that his heels and head nearly touched, and he ran over bushes large enough to hold up a man. He hasn't been around since.

—Columbus Enquirer: The statement on January 1 shows that the Eagle & Phenix Manufacturing company had invested in real estate $582,-310, machinery $607,090 75, and building and material on hand, cash, (mill No 3) $79,776 87. The capital stock is $1250,000. The company has declared and paid dividends since 1869, $750,000. From the profits of last year, $126,875 61; two semi-annual dividends of four per cent. each, payable 1st of May and 1st of November—the total amounting to $100,000—passing the remainder, $26,-75.61, to the credit of machinery account. In point of size, variety of production, number of operatives, enterprise and far-seeing, prudent management, these mills are grand institutions. The south has none comparable to them. They are enduring monuments to the intelligence, skill and fore-thought of Mr. Wm. H. Young, the inspirer of the entire erection, and his able coadjutators.

Relief for the Afflicted.

DR. RICE,

37 Court Place, LOUISVILLE, KY.,

A regularly educated and legally qualified physician and the most successful, as his practice will prove.

Cures all forms of PRIVATE, CHRONIC and SEXUAL DISEASES.

Spermatorrhea and Impotency, as the result of self-abuse in youth, sexual excesses in mature years, or other causes, and producing some of the following effects: Nervousness, Seminal Emissions, (night emissions by dreams), Dimness of Sight, Defective Memory, Physical Decay, Pimples on Face, Aversion to Society of Females, Confusion of Ideas, Loss of Sexual Power, &c., rendering marriage improper or unhappy, are thoroughly and permanently cured. SYPHILIS positively cured and entirely eradicated from the system; Gonorrhea, GLEET, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia, (or Rupture), Piles and other private diseases quickly cured.

It is self-evident that a physician who pays special attention to a certain class of diseases, and treating thousands annually, acquires great skill. Physicians knowing this fact often recommend persons to my care. When it is inconvenient to visit the city for treatment, medicines can be sent privately and safely by mail or express anywhere.

Cures Guaranteed in all Cases undertaken.

Consultations personally or by letter free and invited. Charges reasonable and correspondence strictly confidential.

1—We claim by this method to make 20 per cent more Coffee than by any other method, at the same time retaining the exact flavor of the berry.

2—We claim absolute uniformity in result, the press being at once a measure for the water and the coffee.

3—We claim to make our Coffee and Tea always perfectly free from grounds or sediment, without the use of any foreign substance to settle it.

This process took the first premium at the Centennial Exhibition.

OUR PROCESS.

The principles which we employ in making Tea and Coffee are the following:

1st That any dry material with woody fibre will expand when wet.

2d—That if such expansion be confined, pressure will be developed.

THE TREASURY CASES.

RENEWAL OF THE INVESTIGATION OF YESTERDAY.

The Day Consumed in the Introduction of and Objections to Important Evidence from the City of New York.

Pursuant to the January adjournment, the investigation of the accounts of John Jones, late treasurer of this state, before the auditor, Col. John M Pace, was resumed yesterday at 10 a.m. in the room of the president of the senate, at the capitol.

There were present before the auditor counsel for the state, viz: Attorney General Ely, ex-Attorney General Hammond, Judge McCay, Col. Willis A. Hawkins and Capt. W. T. Newman; John Jones and counsel for himself and securities, viz: Judge Hopkins, Col. Mynatt, and Julius L. Brown.

EVIDENCE OBTAINED.

The consent of all parties was obtained that Attorney General Ely should receive from the postmaster such interrogatories as might be held by him relating to this course.

The interrogatories were obtained, comprising the evidence of Edmund Throckmorton, James Butterfield, P. C. Calhoun, A. Lane and David L. Thompson, all of which related to the transactions between the state of Georgia and John Jones, treasurer, and the Fourth National bank, the state's financial agent in New York.

The evidence was opened, after proper waivers made, and thereupon court adjourned to 4 p. m. to allow counsel upon either side to examine the same.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the afternoon session the various sets of interrogatories were offered by Col. Hammond.

Judge Hopkins and counsel for defense made several objections to the sufficiency and competency of portions of the evidence contained in the papers and these were argued.

After some time spent in this matter, the auditor took the papers and said he would decide upon the several points this morning.

Col. Hammond offered to read certain copy-letters in the letter book of ex Treasurer Jones.

Judge Hopkins and Col. Mynatt objected to them as secondary evidence, and insisted upon originals.

A question arose as to a former consent that any of the contents of this book might be read without objection.

At this point adjournment was had until this morning at 10 a. m., when the case will be resumed for further proceedings.

A DESPERATE AFFRAY.

A Father and Son Try Their Hand Upon Each Other.

We learn that early on Sunday morning the peace of a family living on the southern edge of the county, near the Central railroad, was seriously disturbed by a row between the father and one of his boys. The names of the parties we did not learn. The particulars seem to be, that upon going to feed some stock the father accused the son of having been out the night previous riding one of the horses over the country or to town. The boy denied the charge and used to his father some manner of language which the old man attempted to rebuke. Words led further and finally the old gentleman attempted to chastise his son and for the space of a few minutes gave the old man about as stubborn a fight as the average citizen wants. Rocks and sticks were freely used and with the most pronounced success. The old gentleman was stricken over the eye, where an ugly cut was inflicted, and upon the shoulder, very nearly dislocating it. The boy was also badly bruised and hurt by missiles, but the combatants were separated before any serious damage was done to either. Their hurts were attended to and we learn that both parties are fully satisfied now. So are we!

THE BOY REBELLED

ATLANTA AS SHE IS.

A Handsome and Convenient Guide-Book to our History and Points of Interest.

The marvellous growth and expansion of our city, both in area and population and in commercial importance and influence, have made it a central feature of our southern country. Everywhere its fame is heard and its people are proud and enthusiastic over their success. One great want, however, has been frequently suggested by tourists and others visiting our city. That is found in the necessity for some neat and handy book of reference; as it were, of the city, its history, public features and environs.

A GUIDE BOOK

This want is soon to be supplied by Col. E Y. Clarke, whose "Atlanta Illustrated" already gives promise of a most interesting volume. It will group in convenient and pleasant style the leading facts in our history from the city's earliest annals to the present. It will also fully show up the advantages of the city—for business and residence. In it will be found over an hundred engravings of public edifices and private residences, city views and stores.

Among other special features will be notices of the men who have best illustrated the genius and spirit of our people, and who by public spirit and private munificence, given tone and character to our community. In all these essential departments the book will be complete and valuable.

Our citizens, we are glad to note, are showing a thorough appreciation of the value and efficacious influence of such a work, and are extending to it a very liberal support.

It will appear soon and furnish to our people and the admiring or enquiring stranger abroad a superb 'vade mecum' of this wonderful young metropolis of the south.

TRIAL OF POLICEMEN.

Charge of False Imprisonment.

Yesterday the whole day was occupied by the City court in the trial of Policemen Poole and Simpson, who are charged by Messrs. Kreisle & Steinheimer with false imprisonment. It will be remembered that about six weeks ago the store of Kreisle & Steinheimer on Whitehall street was burned and both the proprietors were arrested that night by officers Poole and Simpson who suspected them of setting their own house on fire. They were released next day and immediately began process against the two officers for false imprisonment. The case was argued for the plaintiffs by E. A. Angier, esq., and for the defendants by J. B. Goodwin and Hoke Smith, esq's.

Both sides presented the case well. It was not finished yesterday but a verdict will probably be reached before noon to-day.

The case presents several fine legal points and is quite interesting.

The Reformed Episcopal Church

The first service of this church in Atlanta was held on Sunday, at 3 p. m., in Concord's hall. The attendance was large, and the interest expressed all that could be desired. The Rev. Benj. Johnson, evangelist to the south, conducted the service. Before preaching he gave a statement of the remarkable increase and growth of this church, and expressed his belief that Atlanta, the heart and center of southern enterprise, would not fail to approve and sustain this important religious movement. His sermon was founded upon the memorable reply of Peter to the Sanhedrim, "We ought to obey God rather than men." The supremacy of Bible right and duty over all earthly expediences was enforced and illustrated. This was shown to be the only unfluctuating basis of morals, as well as the foundation of all religious integrity. The Bible was the supreme judge of churches and of men.

Mr. Johnson can be found at the Markham house by all who desire to confer with him.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

HARRISON BARKER, THE RECKLESS MOUNTAIN ROVER.

Mattresses are Vain for Safety!

Harrison Barker, of Forsyth county, is one of the most famous desperadoes, and one of the most reckless of all the wild mountaineers that ever terrified the craggy regions of northeast Georgia. Many a time has he defied local authority, and he held himself subject to no law but his own wild whims and fierce desires. Many tales of his exploits are told in the neighborhood which he tormented, and some of the more quiet citizens regard him as the most reckless of men, a sort of Dick Turpin without the villainous elegance with which that famous gentlemen is said to have adorned even his wildest acts. Harrison's name is familiar to officers of the law all over the state, and especially to United States marshals with whom he has had more than one bout. About two years ago, was issued against this man for some violation of the revenue laws, and it was placed in the hands of the deputies who usually arrest suspected parties.

AN INDICTMENT

A posse under command of C. B. Blacker went into Forsyth county to arrest several parties, H. Barker among the number. When they approached his domicil he refused to surrender, shot Blacker inflicting a flesh wound and fled. He succeeded in defying pursuit, and hid in the mountains. Since that time he has been hunted by any number of deputies and their posses, but has always eluded their grasp. Once in awhile he would appear and honor his pursuers with a pistol shot, and then dart away into his hiding places.

So hot has been the pursuit after him that it is said that he has not slept at home for two years except on Saturday and Sunday nights, as he knew that revenue raids are scarcely ever made on these nights. But his wild career was doomed to a gloomy end, and it was accomplished little over a week ago. Major George Chamberlain had a small party in charge and was making a sort of search after illicit distilleries in northeast Georgia. The party had had good success, having destroyed a number of "stills" and thrown thousands of pounds of "mash" to the breezes.

On Friday, March the 2d, the party left Dahlonega and proceeded to

MAKE A RAID

on Dawson county. After scouring around nearly all Friday night, the party returned to Dawsonville and remaining there a few hours left in the afternoon of Saturday, taking a direction toward Forsyth county. About 11 o'clock at night the party arrived in the neighborhood of the residence of the famous Barker, and Deputy Marshal James A. Findley suggested that as it was Saturday night there was a strong probability that Barker was at home, as he had little reason to expect a raid at such a time. Findley suggested that the party sally toward the house and search for the desperado.

Knowing what a crafty chap they were after extreme caution was used by the party to come upon him before he should

HAVE TIME TO ESCAPE.

In order to deceive travellers along the road they changed their direction several times and at last made for Barker's house in a direct line. After riding on this trail about an hour they dismounted, tied their horses in the woods and proceeded on foot. After marching thus about two miles the guider stopped them and pointed out the house where he assured them Barker lived when at home.

The house was quickly surrounded. Lieutenant Miller, U S A., who was in command of the detachment of soldiers, stationed his men around the house in such a way that it was impossible for any one to escape from the interior. Findley then went up to the door and knocked. Some time elapsed before any reply was given, but at last the door was opened by a woman, who asked him what he wanted?

Findley entered and commenced a search of the house. The lower room was thoroughly examined, but no traces of the sought-for prize were visible.

Findley determined to see the whole house, however, and procuring a ladder he ascended the loft. Here he turned over everything that he thought could possibly conceal a man, but found nobody. He noticed two mattresses in one corner, and upon looking closely at them he discovered what seemed to be

A MAN'S HEAD.

He knew well enough who lay concealed there, and he approached close to the pile and said: "Barker, come out of there! My name is Findley. I'm the man you have shot at so many times. You have threatened to shoot me on sight. Now's your chance. Come out!"

But Barker didn't think it was his chance. He saw he was caught and he crawled out and surrendered. He was soon handcuffed and taken in charge by the party, who sallied back to their horses and away to camp for the night. Barker was brought to Atlanta last week and is now in Fulton county jail. He will probably have a hearing at this term of the court for some of his various offenses.

Augusta Progress.

From the Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel we gather the following facts, which ought to stir up our citizens to increased activity in the same direction:

"The stockholders of the Enterprise manufacturing company held a meeting Saturday at the office of the Augusta factory, and elected the following officers:

President—Geo. T. Jackson.

Directors—H M Clark, Francis Cogin, Charles Estes, Jas. A Gray.

The company has purchased the granite mills from Geo. T. Jackson & Co. for $19,000. The capital stock is fixed at one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The full amount has been subscribed and work will be commenced at once. The present mill will be put in first class condition, and extensive additions and improvements made. It is proposed to start with 7,000 spindles, which will probably be increased to 20,000 in a short time. The company proposes to manufacture silesia goods, a species of lining, and, also, we understand, goods like those now manufactured by the Augusta factory. The machinery is now boxed at a northern point and will be shipped to Augusta as soon as the mill is ready to receive it. We learn that Mr. Davis, formerly of Atlanta, an experienced manufacturer, will be superintendent of the new mill.

It is rumored that a much larger factory is soon to be erected on the powder mills tract by a company a large portion of whose capital will be furnished by northern parties. It is said that this mill will be twice the capacity of the Augusta factory, or about 60,000 spindles It is certain that a resolution was offered in council yesterday afternoon providing for the sale of a lot in that tract and the furnishing of the requisite water power to a company. It is rumored that the deed for this lot was formally signed and delivered last night, and that the new company will be at once organized and work commenced on the factory."

A PLOUGH-BOY.

WHO STOLE EIGHT PLOW POINTS FROM HIS BOSS.

Started Out on a Peddling Tour and Fell into the Hands of the Noble Policeman.

One of the objects of Mr. Hayes' "peculiar solicitude" is just now in peculiar need of solicitude of some sort. He is a bandy-shanked, warp-sided creature, blacker than a copal-varnished panel of Beelzebub's back-door. In anticipation, unconsciously perhaps, of his journeyman job in the other world, he has been for some time been an apprentice in a blacksmith shop on Peters street, of which Milo Smith is the chief Vulcan. Milo trusted his assistant, as an honest and fair-dealing co-beneficiary under the fifteenth amendment and never for once suspected that an itching palm belonged to the boy, or that a red hot anvil would be liable to disappear if left unguarded in the vicinity of the youth.

SANFORD STOKES

Milo retired to his home and to the peaceful slumbers which reward honest toil the other night and Stokes also walked off like an honest man. But a few hours after other sights were seen. Officer Simpson discovered

SANFORD ON THE MAKE

In one of the wagon yards on Peters street after dark, Sanford was lugging around a sack, containing eight plow points, which aforesaid useful articles he was offering to the country trade at figures decidedly below cost. He meant business.

Officer Simpson watched the enterprising iron-peddler awhile and then clamped him. Sanford thereupon, as usual with his class, began to lie in the most truthful style imaginable He said Smith had given him the plows to sell for him, as he was hard up. Officer Simpson walked Stokes about two miles to Smith's house, when it appeared that Stokes was a thief and an awful liar, and from his pockets the old man's lost keys were taken. Sanford then said the old man's son was his partner and was to have a divoy in the profits of the theft, but the story was too thin. Sanford now regards the beauties of Peaseville through the bars of the county jail.

STILL THEY COME.

Three Hundred and Sixteen—How Many More?

As will be seen in the proceedings of the United States district court yesterday, sixty-nine men charged with violations of the internal revenue laws were released from custody upon entering a formal plea of guilty and having their sentences suspended. Last week two hundred and forty-seven of these men were discharged and the total number up to date is three hundred and sixteen, or almost enough to make a good sized regiment.

We learn that a large number of prisoners have been brought here in the last few days, and the number of those awaiting an opportunity of entering a plea is quite larger It seems at present to be probable that fully five hundred men will take the benefit of the liberal conditions offered to them If those who are hiding out from old indictments would come up and surrender the number would be greatly increased. For some months back the jails of this and adjoining counties have been full of men arrested for illicit distilling, but they will all soon be cleared.

The great amount of muscle thus set free should be used to the profit of north east Georgia in developing its magnificent resources, and if possible should hereafter elude the clutches of the vigilant revenue detective by a consistent course of good behavior and by avoiding even the appearance of tricks that have proven vain.

Death of O. H. Green.

Mr. O H. Green died quite suddenly in this city on last Saturday evening of meningetis. Mr. Green was a man of fine physique and robust health. Several weeks since he had a slight attack of inflammation of the bowels, but had recovered. Friday night he complained of headache, but felt no alarm. About 4 o'clock he was suffering so severely that a physician was summoned. When the Doctor arrived he found it a case of meningetis beyond the reach of medical skill. Mr Green died at 6:15 p. m Mr. Green was a son of Dr. J. Mercer Green, of Macon, and a nephew of Dr. Green, of the lunatic asylum. He was a man of culture and generally esteemed. Mr. Green had his life insured for nearly $30,000, as follows:

Northwestern Life	$ 10,000
Brooklyn	7,000
Life Association of America	5,000
Pen Mutual	5,000
Cotton States	1,100
Total	$ 28,100

His remains were taken to Barnesville for interment.

Fire Alarm.

A fire alarm box, connecting by wires with the water works, has been put in the front room of the police station. There it can be promptly and efficiently operated, giving early notice to the engineer at the reservoir and securing a full pressure of water without delay in all cases of fire The wires are also connected with the residence of Superintendent Wynne, who can be called up by every alarm and direct the subsequent operations connected with the fire service from the water works.

THE POLICE.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

M. Mahoney Elected Chairman.

The Board of Police Commissioners met at 3 p. m. yesterday

MONTHLY REPORT OF CHIEF.

Captain J. A. Anderson, Chief of Police, submitted the following report for the month of February:

Arrests—State 77, city 214; total, 291. City arrests tried 213, continued 1. Of those tried 163 were fined, and fifty dismissed.

The average of fines imposed, $6 50, besides costs.

Amount of fines imposed, $1,052 00; collected, $635 90.

Worked out and being worked out on the streets, $320 35.

Remitted, $75 75.

Lost by escape from street force, $20.

The amount collected by me from all sources during the month were:

On account of fines	$692 65
On account of cows and hogs	7 55
On account of guard house fees	17 25
Total	$717 44

THE STATION HOUSE.

The condition of this building is unchanged Slight expense was incurred during the month by plunging out the pipes connecting the privies with the sewer running under the building. This expense is incurred too frequently, and the matter ought to be permanently remedied, if possible.

THE FORCE.

The condition of the force for efficiency, discipline etc, is fully shown by the reports of the lieutenants. It is believed that most of the members of the force are equal, in all respects essential to the proper discharge of the duties required of them here, to the members of any police department in the country. That the continued exercise of wise discipline will result in further improvement cannot be doubted.

THE CITY.

The city is quiet, the people law-abiding and orderly for the most part Some complaint is made concerning the breaking of glass in the windows of vacant houses by small boys. This is, of course, done when no policeman is in sight, and it seems difficult to break the practice up, unless parents will keep their boys at home or within their control. On the whole, crime seems to be as little prevalent here as in any other community of equal size.

RULES ADOPTED.

Commissioner Dodd offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the same rule governing the general council provided by the charter in its presiding officer, in the absence of the mayor by the aldermanic board, apply to the commissioners, viz: That one of the commissioners, serving his last year's time, be made chairman of the board, and the other chairman pro tem.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Commissioner Dodd moved that Commissioner Mahoney be elected chairman, and Commissioner Clarke chairman pro tem, which motion prevailed. Commissioner Goldsmith was unanimously re-elected secretary. The outgoing and incoming officers made elaborate addresses, which, on account of their length, we are compelled to omit.

Commissioner Dodd was the choice of the board for re-election of chairman, but declined on the ground that he wanted the honors divided.

MUST PAY THEIR DEBTS.

Commissioner Dodd offered the following, which was adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That if any member of the police force have contracted any debts since they have been elected by this board, and have not made an effort to pay the same, and does not before the election on the first of April, such applicants for re-election will not be entertained when such proof has been made to the commissioners.

CONCURRED IN.

The Board concurred in the ordinance passed by the general council relative to regulating the manner of working out fines on streets, and instructed the Chief of Police to carry it into effect

NEXT MEETING.

The Board adjourned to meet at 8 a. m. on Saturday, the 31st inst, when the election of members of the police force will take place.

JOHN A. BROADUS, D.D., L.L.D., will deliver a lecture on his travels in Palestine in the Second Baptist church, corner of Washington and Mitchell streets, Thursday evening, the 15th, beginning at 8 o'clock. This eminent divine is too well known and appreciated by our people to need our commendation. No one should lose such an opportunity to hear this great man. The proceeds raised to be distributed among the poor of Atlanta. Admission only 25 cents. Tickets on sale at J. J. & S. P. Richard's bookstore, Alabama street.

MRS. BELLE LOCKART, formerly of Columbus, is now occupying the Boyd house at No 50 North Broad street, junction of Luckie and Peachtree streets, where she will gladly welcome her friends The house has been thoroughly renovated; is centrally located for families and convenient for day boarders. Terms reasonable.

Chattanooga Dots

—Chattanooga claims 12,000 inhabitants and expects to have 20,000 one year from the day on which the Cincinnati Southern railroad is completed.

—Lookout mountain will be a great resort during the coming summer. There are two hotels on the summit.

—The people of Chattanooga are justly proud of the fact that one of their fellow-citizens was chosen to a cabinet position.

—The Chattanooga hotel under the management of Messrs. Van Horn & Venable is winning wide popularity. Mr. Joe LaPrade, formerly of the Maxwell house is the efficient clerk.

—A large number of new buildings are in process of erection and everywhere there are evidences of energy and prosperity.

—Any number of artists take annual tours along the Tennessee river to get sketches.

—Several Atlanta boys are among the rising young merchants of Chattanooga. They still maintain their Gate City pluck.

—The United States cemetery, where thousands upon thousands of federal soldiers are buried, is always visited by strangers. Everything is kept in beautiful order, and the hill, around which the graves are ranged, will, in a few years, become one of the finest cemeteries in the land.

—Chattanooga has water works, street cars, a good daily paper, five railroads, forty mountains and a balloon ascension in prospectu. What else is needed to constitute a first-class city?

—The magnificent Stanton house, erected a few years since, is now unoccupied, except by Mr. Stanton's family, and stands an evidence of reckless prodigality.

—The new Scofield rolling mill is almost completed and will be the third that has been built since the war.

—The channel of the Tennessee river will soon be deep enough, it is hoped, to admit steamboats of enormous size.

—There is enough granite around Chattanooga to wall in Tennessee.

—The city is very evenly divided in politics, but the democrats usually win.

TOWN TOPICS

—Specimen copies of Miss Annie Maria Barnes paper, "The Acanthus," may be seen at the "Sunny South" office, Phillips & Crew's book store, Lynch & Thornton's, A. K. Everett's and at this office. Subscriptions may be left at either of these places.

—It is said that the Bard of Idaho, is fixing to say to Hayes: 'I want a
Thirty thousand dollar pup—
Pup-pup-pup-pup-
Pup-pup-pup pup-
Pup-pup pup-pup-pup-pup-pup
Pup-pup-pup-post office."

—Dr. Taylor, not to be behind the age, has come to the front with Blue Glass Balm

—The lecture of Rev. Dr. Broadus will be on Thursday night next.

—The legion of friends of Captain G. J. Foreacre are pleased to welcome him back to the Gate City. We learn that he assumes the position of general manager of the Air-Line road to-day.

—A restauranteur in Stone Mountain yesterday morning prepared breakfast for a Georgia railroad director, but the director didn't come. The restauranteur, rather than have his entire stock spoiled, invited in the town to eat it up —Some of our eastern exchanges twist one of our articles thus: "Miss Annie Logan is sweet 61."

—Several dairy farms and vineyards are to be located at Clarkston.

—It is proposed that a convention from the 34th senatorial district be held at Stone mountain on the first day of May to nominate candidates to the constitutional convention.

—The police force after the first of April will have four captains.

—The chairman of the board of police commissioners will hereafter rank as general.

—It is estimated that the police force can be run the current year for $36 622.

—It is whispered that Miss Anna Maria Barnes has fallen heir to $80,000 She was worth more than that before.

—E. Van Goidtsnoven can be found at S. A. Echols', in charge of the seed department.

—Col. S. B. Spencer left for Texas yesterday.

—A narrow guage railroad connecting McDonough and Hampton is the latest project.

—The young violinist of Cobb county is named Franc.

—How to help the sick and destitute of our city—go to hear Dr. Broadus Thursday night at the Second Baptist church. Admission only 25 cents.

—The Second Baptist church should be filled to overflowing Thursday night The cause is a noble one, and Dr. Broadus has no peer in the south as a lecturer.

—Dr. Broadus' lecture on his travels in Palestine will be the treat of the season. Let everybody turn out.

—"He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." Go to hear Dr. Broadus and give 25 cents for the poor of our city.

—Rev. A. L. Hamilton, D. D., associate editor of the Sunny South, leaves on a southern tour in a few days. The doctor is making an incisive campaign for his paper, and is making the south sunny with its pleasure-giving pages in every household and business office.

—Capt. A. W. Force has returned from the east with a choice stock of shoes. His shoes with blue glass heels cannot be excelled

Major J F. Kiser, of the firm of M C and J. F. Kiser & Co., returned yesterday from New York. Among the novelties he brought out is a blue glass hat and a double cyclone proof umbrella.

—The Young Men's Library association will commence moving into their new hall on Monday next —Prof. Nichols will commence a session in dancing at the new Concordia hall in Grant's building on Thursday next.

—J. C. Willer, Louis Runkle, Ben Spier, H. Hospital, John Van Horn, W. H. Churchill, C. H. Marion, Alex H. Stevens and Adrion Dickerson, of New York, are at the Kimball.

—General Robert Toombs is at the Kimball.

—Judge Howlow Orton, of Wisconsin, is at the Kimball.

—One of the most pleasant surprise parties of the season came off last night at the residence of Mr. N. R. Fowler, on Peachtree street. Quite a number of the young belles of the city were present, and a full coterie of beaux were most happy in dancing attendance.

—The street force is hard at work in various parts of the city, but the rainy season interferes considerably.

—Sharpen up your wits. The first of April is little more than two weeks off.

—Several Atlanta clerks have recently quit and gone to farming.

—At a large and full meeting of the Atlanta Cadets, held last evening, after electing a number of new members and disposing of other business, a committee was appointed to prepare for the ball, to be given on the 4th of April, at the Kimball house; The meeting was full of life,
